PROPOSALS.

BY BENJAMIN EDES & CO.
OF BALTIMORE,

For Publishing a New and Valuable Work, by Subscription, entitled,
An Universal Dictionary

OF Commercial Geography;

CONTAINING all that relates to the situation and extent of every commercial state in the world, and a comprehensive and correct account of their agriculture and products, their manufactures, fisheries and mines, and the commerce resulting therefrom—their laws, customs, tribunals and administrations of commerce—their land carriage and navigation; their banks and commercial companies; their monies weights and measures; their exports and imports; their exchange and the balance of trade; their colonies &c. &c. arranged in alphabetical order—From the French of J. Pene et al. author of the Dictionary of Police, of the Methodical Encyclopaedia, &c.

The publishers have been at great expense in obtaining the only translation, revised and corrected by gentlemen of well known talents, which will make about 15 vols 8 mo. containing 600 pages each, dedicated to the Merchants of the U. S. Copy right secured according to law.

The work now proposed to the public may be said to be a miniature view of the commercial world, unfolding the commerce of every climate. It combines the experience of past ages with the trade of the present day. In the author's preliminary discourse and introduction, will be found a most interesting history of commerce from remote ages progressively will the publication of the work, together with the tables of the money of the different nations of the world; tables of the old and present weights & measures of distance, surface, solids and capacity in France, adopted since the revolution, &c. &c. therein all the intricacies and labyrinths of trade are brought into one view.

The high estimation in which the Commercial Geographical Dictionary is held in Europe, induces the publishers to cherish a hope that in their expectations of remuneration they will not be disappointed. They know not of any work in the English language on the subject of which it treats, of so general importance.

Gentlemen acquainted with the real merits of the work will be highly gratified in seeing it in English dress, to effect which the publishers have not hesitated to encounter every obstacle, and brave every expense. They are determined that the work shall be executed in a style which shall not deteriorate the character of the American press.

CONDITIONS.

The work will make at least 15 large octavo volumes, containing 600 pages each, and printed on a new type and paper of a good quality.

It will be delivered to subscribers bound in boards, at $8 for each volume, payable on delivery. To non subscribers the price will be enhanced.

It is expected one volume will be delivered each month from the commencement. A list of the patrons of the work will be added to the last volume.

Subscriptions received at this office.

SPAIN.

The Royal Decree of Feb. 14.

This day was published the following Manifesto and Decree:—

THE COUNCIL OF REGENCY OF SPAIN & THE INDIES.

TO THE

HISPANO-AMERICANS.

No sooner had the Regency received from the government which has just ceased, the authority with which it was vested, than it directed its thoughts to your immense and valuable part of the Monarchy. To communicate to you this change; to explain the motives which have accelerated it; to announce the hopes which it promises; and to manifest the principles by which the Regency is actuated for the happiness and glory of your Regions, have been the objects of its first care at this memorable crisis;— and now it is about to accomplish them with the frankness and sincerity, which never more than at present, should characterize the Spanish spirit in both worlds.

An uninterrupted concatenation of misfortunes had disconcerted all our operations ever since the battle of Talamora. The anguine hopes which might have been entertained from that celebrated day, dissipated like smoke. Shortly afterwards the flourishing army of La Mancha was beaten at Albuñol. Gerona was made a gallant defence; but each day proclaimed the impossibility of affording the succors, to which so necessary and justly was entitled that heroic city which, in future ages, will grant to her defenders the high place in the san-guinary annals of military prowess. Notwithstanding prodigies of valor, the army of Castile had been defeated in the battle of Alcañices. Gerona was made a gallant defence; but each day proclaimed the impos-

fence; but each day proclaimed the impos-
guinary annals of military prowess.

Without fortune, there is neither credit nor favor. The nation already began to doubt whether the Body entrusted with its destiny were capable of saving it. All the springs of government had lost their resistance and force. Its measures were either uncertain, protracted, or badly carried into execution. The sanction of certain individuals, and that of public bodies, had risen to an extraordinary degree, and with their authority, displayed itself more or less in their discordance.

The most moderate of the people declared that a government composed of so many members, all different in disposition, in principles, in interest; all attending at the same time, to all the affairs both important and unimportant, could not think with system, deliberate with secrecy, conduct with unanimity, nor execute with promptitude.
Few in number for great legislative discussions; too numerous for executive power, they afforded all the inconveniences of a collective authority, less on account of their political knowledge and comprehension, than by reason of the extraordinary and fortuitous occurrence of the events attending our singular revolution.

The public voice then declared that the government should be reduced to more simple elements. The Supreme Junta itself, persuaded of this truth, proclaimed this change together with the convocation of the approaching Extraordinary Cortes, whose immediate session it was to appoint and celebrate with the solemnity due to that angust Convention.

The government which the Cortes might establish, and the resources and measures that necessarily should devolve from their deliberations, were to regulate confidence, and with it to ensure our hopes of success.

The occurrences have counteracted this order of affairs. The French conceiving the salutary effects of such a change, concentrated the various branches of their army at the defence of the Sierra Morena. These were defeated by the valour of our forces defeated at Orense, and not yet recovered from that unfortunate affair. The enemy broke through our weakest post, and the others were shortly afterwards carried, notwithstanding the resistance made by our divisions who were deserving of better success. The barrier, which the year before impeded the French from invading Andalusia, being now carried, they disembogued and hastened towards Seville.

Discontent then manifested itself in clamors and complaints. The perverse, profiting by the awful state of those pusillanimous spirits agitated with terror, began to influence the public mind; to weaken its ardor; to foment wickedness; and to give scope to licentiousness.

The Junta already accomplished the plan which it pronounced of removing to the Island of Leon, where the Cortes were to be held; but, in the very instant, the dignity of its members, and the respect due to their character, were more than once exposed to insults and to peril. Although they eventually assembled at the Island and continued their sessions, yet their authority, already become feeble in their hands, could not produce tranquilly amongst the people, nor revive their courage, nor assuage the immense and impetuous danger. The Junta then terminated the exercise of its power by the only act which could prevent the ruin and dissolution of the state. It established, by its royal decree of the 29th Instance of this present year, the Council of Regency, and committed to the deposit of sovereignty, which it lawfully held, and in the actual circumstances, could safely transfer.

Such are the causes of the revolution that has just taken place in the Spanish government; a revolution effected without bloodshed, without violence, without estranges, without intrigues, produced by the very exigency of the affairs themselves, taught for by the good, and capable of regenerating the country, if all Spaniards of both hemispheres hasten with energy to the generous enterprise.

The result of the operations within these few first days, is a promise of future success. The enemy, confiding in the state of inactivity and neglect in which they expected to find both the island and city of Cadiz, and fascinated with the luxuriance of the prey, flew with rapidity to devour it. The march of the army of Extremadura, under the command of the general duke de Albuquerque, has disconcerted their designs, and in spite of their diligence and perseverance, our valiant warriors now cover these positions, which are secure against every attack. Confidence is restored in the Provinces, new armies are forming, and are led by the best generals. Thus the French who thought to paralyze the force of war, by occupying Andalusia, see their hopes frustrated, and in their front, in their flank, on their flank, they find the very feet, they find the martial spirit revived, and extend itself with more ardor and enthusiasm than ever.

Hispanso-Americans! Your brethren of Europe possess too much magnanimity and fortitude to faint under the weight of the reverses sent them by Providence. When without arms, without stores, without resources, we waged war, we well knew to what we exposed ourselves, we clearly beheld the awful prospect before us; it did not terrify them, neither does it now terrify us; and if at that day duty, honor and vengeance left us no other alternative than war, neither does there now remain any other alternative than war, for all those Spaniards who hearken to the voice of vengeance, honor, and obligation.

Our nation always depended on the means of defence afforded by the geographical position of the peninsula: it depended on the inexhaustible resources of the virtue and constancy of its children: it depended on the unshaken loyalty of the Spaniards for their king, on the interminable rancor kindled by the French on the sentiments of American fraternity and patriotism, equal to our own in zeal and in loyalty. In none of these hopes have we been disappointed; with them we shall be fortified during the continuance of the tempest. Oh, Americans, our victory is certain. To the despot of France it is not given, however he may pretend on the immensity of his power, to estimate a nation which, from the water boundaries of Europe extends across the ocean, over the new continent, even to the very confines of Asia. Degraded and dishonored, bound hands and feet, she was sold and delivered up at discretion by privileged men. But thanks to our own resolutions and sublime resolution, thanks to our loyal and generous attachment, he could not conquer us at first, nor shall he ever conquer us. His armed satellites may enter a tiny, may occupy a province, may lay waste a territory; but our hearts are all Spanish, and in spite of his arms, his victories, his insolence, and his rage, the name and authority of Ferdinand VII. will be respected and obeyed throughout the most opulent and remote regions of the world.
It will likewise be blessed, because with this name the epoch of the regeneration and felicity of the empire will be recorded for future generations, in both hemispheres.

Amongst the first cares of the Regency, a principal place is occupied for the celebration of the extraordinary Cortes announced to the Spaniards, and to be assembled on the first day of March next. On this convention the good citizens have founded their hopes of redemption and future happiness; and if the events of war should cause the protraction of this measure till a more convenient and secure port, the very delay will afford to the new government an opportunity of placing, at the most national Congress the presentation of the vast empire dealing it is entrusted.

From the commencement of the then the country has declared their regime as an integral and essential part of the Spanish monarchy. As such, they belonged to all the rights and franchises of the mother country. According to the principles of eternal justice and equity, the natives of America are called upon to take part in the representative government which has just formed, by equal suffrage they hold and share in the representation in the national Congress, and can send thereto their deputies according to the decree annexed to this Manifesto.

In this moment, Hispano-Americans, your yourselves raised to the dignity of citizens, you are no longer the same as you were before, bowed down beneath the yoke, to such the more gallant, as you were more distant from the centre of power; you were regarded with indifference, oppressed by taxation, and sacrificed by ignorance. Let this be impressed upon your minds, that hereafter you can no longer be silent, pronouncing the names of your representatives, who are to attend at this national Congress. "Our destinies are longer dependent upon the impulse of ministers, not of viceroys, nor of governors, but solely upon you."

It is necessary that in this act, the most solemn, the most important of your civil existence, each elector should say to himself: "This man I now send to be associated with the representatives of the mother country, and to sustain the destructive machinations of Bonaparte; it is this man who must expiate and remedy all the abuses, all the exactions, all the evils produced in these countries by the usurpation and tyranny of the agents of the old government. It is he who must contribute, by just and sa-lutory laws, to the formation of the new regulated monarchy, out of so many ruin and remote regions; in fine, it is he who must determine the burden I am to bear the privileges I am to enjoy, the wars I am to wage, and the peace in which I am to repose."

Such, O Hispano-Americans! if the confidence you are about to repose in your representatives. The country, and this Regency which addresses you in her name, are satisfied that your representatives will prove worthy of the important functions that they are about to exercise. Send them therefore, with the promptitude required by the exigency of the public affairs. Let them decide with us the best plan for the happiness and social improvement of these immense territories by their co-operation in a work of such magnitude and importance, they will acquire a glory, to which were it not for the actual revolution, neither Spain nor America could have ever aspired.

Done at the Royal Island of Leon, February 14, 1810.

XAVIER DE CASTAÑOS, President, FRANCISCO DE SAABERIA, ANTONIO DE FIGUEROA,
MIGUEL DE LARIBARAL Y URBIA.

ROYAL DECREE.

Our King and Sovereign Don Ferdinand VII. and in his royal name the Council of Regency of Spain and the Indies.

Considering the great and urgent necessity for the satisfaction of the republics from the Spanish dominions in America and Asia, who are lawfully to represent the will of their constituents at the extraordinary cortes to be assembled, as soon as the results of war will permit, and on which we so depend the restoration and happiness of the whole monarchy, decree as follows:

There shall come to bear a part in the national representation in the extraordinary cortes of the Kingdom, Archbishops, Bishops, the viceroys of New Spain, Peru, Santa Fe and Buenos Ayres, and from the captain-general of Puerto Rico, Cuba, San Domingo, Guatemala, from the interior provinces, from Veracruz, Chili, and the Philippine Islands.

There shall be a deputy for every capital city of those different provinces.

They shall be elected by the corporation of each capital city, first by electing three persons natives of the province, and distinguished by their probity, talents and information, and five from every other town.
The three are afterwards to cast lots, and he who first comes out shall be deputy.

Any disputes arising from this election shall be decided peremptorily and without delay by the viceroys or captain general of the provinces, in concert with the audience.

After the election, the deputy shall receive testimonials thereof from the corporation by whom he was elected. He is afterwards to be supplied both by the corporation and all those who may be considered, with the instructions respecting the ob-

THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE LANDS,

In the county of Fluvanna, upon extensive credit, are worthy the attention of the Farmers and Planters.

THOSE LANDS contain about 12,000 acres, a great part of it situated on both sides of Cunningham Creek, and its branches. This is a large never failing stream on the south side of the Rivanna, which is the north fork of James River, the rest of the Land on the north side of the said river on both sides of Balenger's Creek. The whole Land has been lately resurveyed and divided into small tracts to accommodate purchasers, and for each tract there is a correct plat. The soil in general is suitable for the usual agricultural production of the country, and particularly so for Wheat and Tobacco. The climate is extremely healthy, equally so as mountain farms. The whole is well watered by excellent springs and small streams. Not one of the farms will be more than six or seven miles from the navigation of the south and north branches of James River, most of them much nearer. The principal part of the land is well timbered and the surplus of the new grounds with little labor may be turned into money, there being a constant demand for it at the different towns upon the river, and particularly at Richmond. Cunningham Creek and its branches affords many excellent mill-seats and the stream never fails. Balenger's Creek, though smaller, is a good stream, and affords some excellent mill-seats; one very near the bank of the river. The centre of the land is six or seven miles from the town of New Canton, 12 miles from the town of Milton, 48 miles from the town of Columbia, 25 miles from the town of Cartersville; each of those towns are upon the river, and a tobacco inspection at each for which there is a good market, as also for Corn, Wheat, and other produce. The Land is 63 miles from the city of Richmond, the navigation safe and good, and the freights very moderate.

For the accommodation of people desirous of viewing the Lands, the surveyor of the county, Mr. Peter H. Ware, is engaged to attend at Fluvanna Court House from and after the 1st day of July next, every Monday and Tuesday, until the day of sale, to show the Land; Mr. John Black, living near the centre of it will be ready for the same purpose, at his own house, every Wednesday and Thursday; Mr. Christopher Clark, who is equally convenient, will be ready for the like purpose to attend every Friday and Saturday; this arrangement is made to prevent disappointments or delays to people coming a distance.

The sale will commence at Fluvanna Court House on Monday the 6th day of August next, and continue day by day until finished. The surveyor of the county, who has been frequently over the lands, will attend during the sale to give information to purchasers in such particulars as relate to his official duty. The titles are unquestionable, and a general warranty will be made to the purchasers.

The terms of payment are, one fourth ready money, in every instance; and if a greater proportion be paid a discount will be made thereupon; the balance to be paid in three equal annual instalments, and trust deeds upon the land itself taken as security.

The sale will be conducted under the particular agency of Major George Holman and Mr. Jacob Myers, who will be prepared with the necessary deeds and ready to execute them upon receiving the first payment in cash.

FOR SALE,

At the town of Occoquan, on the 26th day of May next, at Public Auction,

That valuable MILL SEAT, late the property of Elisha Janncy,

SITUATE in the said town of Occoquan. On this site was erected, about eleven years ago, a spacious three story BRICK MILL HOUSE, which ever since has been occupied as a manufacturing mill, until about twelve months ago it was destroyed by fire—the stones and bricks of the former walls, and the iron work of the building are upon the spot, and would answer for a new mill, which might with these aids, be erected in time to grind the growing crop of wheat.

The advantages pertaining to this valuable property, which in the driest season never wants water, being furnished by the Occoquan river, are so generally known as not to need a particular enumeration: suffice it to state that it is situated in a healthy and flourishing little town at the Falls of the river, about 16 miles south of Alexandria, on the great stage road, leading north and south—in the heart of a wheat country—and has navigable water to the mill door, where vessels may come of sufficient burthen to carry 500 barrels of flour. With this valuable seat for water works of any description, there may be had about 250 acres of well timbered land, lying on the opposite side of the river.

For this property one-tenth of the purchase money will be required in hand, and the residue in three equal annual payments, with interest from the day of sale.

Richard M. Scott,

Trustee for Creditors of E. Janncy.

He is a likely fellow, about 30 years of age, 5 feet eight or nine inches high, is remarkably straight, and has a scar on one of his cheeks, I believe the left, occasioned by a cut; he is a cooper by trade, and served his apprenticeship at the Occoquan Mills, and was purchased some years ago by Mr. Thos. Richards of a Mrs. Waggoner, who lived in the neighborhood of that place. He was seen eight days ago on his way to Alexandria, where he said he was going to get employment. I think it highly probable he may be found in the neighborhood of the above Mill.

Should the first number, on the 15th day 1 drawing, be either of the numbers from 1 to 250, inclusive, then, in that case, the next drawn number (not one of those numbers) shall draw, and be entitled to the 250 tickets, with the prizes and blanks that may be drawn to them previous to the 15th day of drawing; and in the like manner with tickets for the 20th, 25th, and 30th days of drawing; so that a person with one ticket may draw One Thousand Tickets! Question—How? Answer—Suppose No. 11,175, is the property of the first drawn number on the 15th day of drawing, which will entitle to the numbers from 1 to 350; and the first drawn number on the 20th day of drawing, may be No. 175, which will entitle him to the numbers from 251 to 500. The first drawn number, on the 25th day, may be No. 375, which will entitle him to the numbers from 22,001 to 22,350, inclusive; and the first drawn number, on the 30th day of drawing, may be one of the 750 tickets already drawn, which will entitle him to the numbers from 22,350 to 22,500—Yes, sir, and the thousand tickets may draw One Hundred Thousand Dollars!

GLENCARN;

THE DISAPPOINTMENTS OF YOUTH;

A NOVEL.

By GEORGE WATTESTON, Esq., OF WASHINGTON CITY,
Author of the Lawyer and Child of Feeling.

The celebrity of this author's "LAWYER," and "CHILD OF FEELING," induced the publishers to engage in this work, and without detracting from the merits of the former, feel themselves justified in stating that his GLENCARN is superior to either. It is submitted without further recommendation, with a wish, that the American readers may give further encouragement to this young gentleman's endeavors to entertain the strict and moralize his fellow citizens, in a way seemingly well calculated to attract their attention.
